INFLUENCES AFOOT TO DIVERT PROBE IN MOVIE MURDER

FILM WORLD INVOLVED IN EFFORT. OFFICERS HINT. EVIDENCE FLITS

Letters, Other Clues Wanted by Authorities in Hollywood, Vanish.

Los Angeles.—Indications that powerful influences in the motion picture world were endeavoring to direct the inquiry about the murder of William Desmond Taylor into certain lines, and to prevent its extension in other directions, were reported Wednesday by officers employed on the case.

Taylor was shot and killed here last Wednesday. The officers said that, over since their investigation began, they had been meeting unexpected obstacles and that these were growing more evident day by day.

Included in these obstacles were the disappearance of bits of evidence, including letters written to Taylor by Mary Miles Minter and Mabel Normand. These letters were gone after the shooting and reports Tuesday they had been returned to the writers. Both denied they had received their letters.

Seek to Check Publicity.

Another disappearing clue was a handkerchief initialed "C. B." believed to belong to a motion picture producer. The disappearance of the Taylor home of a woman's pink silk night dress, was another item.

Efforts have been made to end the wide publicity given the case and those connected with it, it was said. A quarrel between Taylor and Mabel Normand was reported Wednesday to have been told by Harry Fellows, chauffeur for Taylor.

The sheriff's office was also continuing a careful independent investigation. It was indicated that the heavier the housework would be questioned about details which it was commonly reported he had withheld in previous statements, but had disclosed.

Reveal Near Hysteria.

After the funeral Tuesday, when Miss Normand was brought back into the church in a faint, Peavoy approached hysteria. He sought out Douglas MacLean and talked with him nervously. MacLean declined to disclose the purpose of the talk.

Belief was expressed by deputy sheriff that Peavoy holds the key to the motive for the murder of the director.

Wrinkled Meat, Famous 137-Year Old Chippewa Indian, Pneumonia Victim

Cass Lake, Minn.—Arrangements were completed Wednesday for a funeral of S. G. De-Nah-Gewin, famous Chippewa Indian, said to be 137 years old, who died Tuesday.

It is planned to hold services in the Catholic church here on Thursday. The dead Indian, also known as Wrinkled Meat, and John Smith, joined the church several years ago. According to present plans there will be only simple services, with no Indian ceremonies.

Wrinkled Meat died, not of old age, but from pneumonia, contracted a week ago. When the end came, he lay on the floor holding out to the last against being placed in a bed, which he contended was "no place for old people." Several years ago, when struck by a switch engine, he was taken to a hospital, but refused a bed, seeking a "comfortable place" on the floor. He rolled into a blanket and remained on the floor for three weeks, until he recovered.

Skates for Sale?

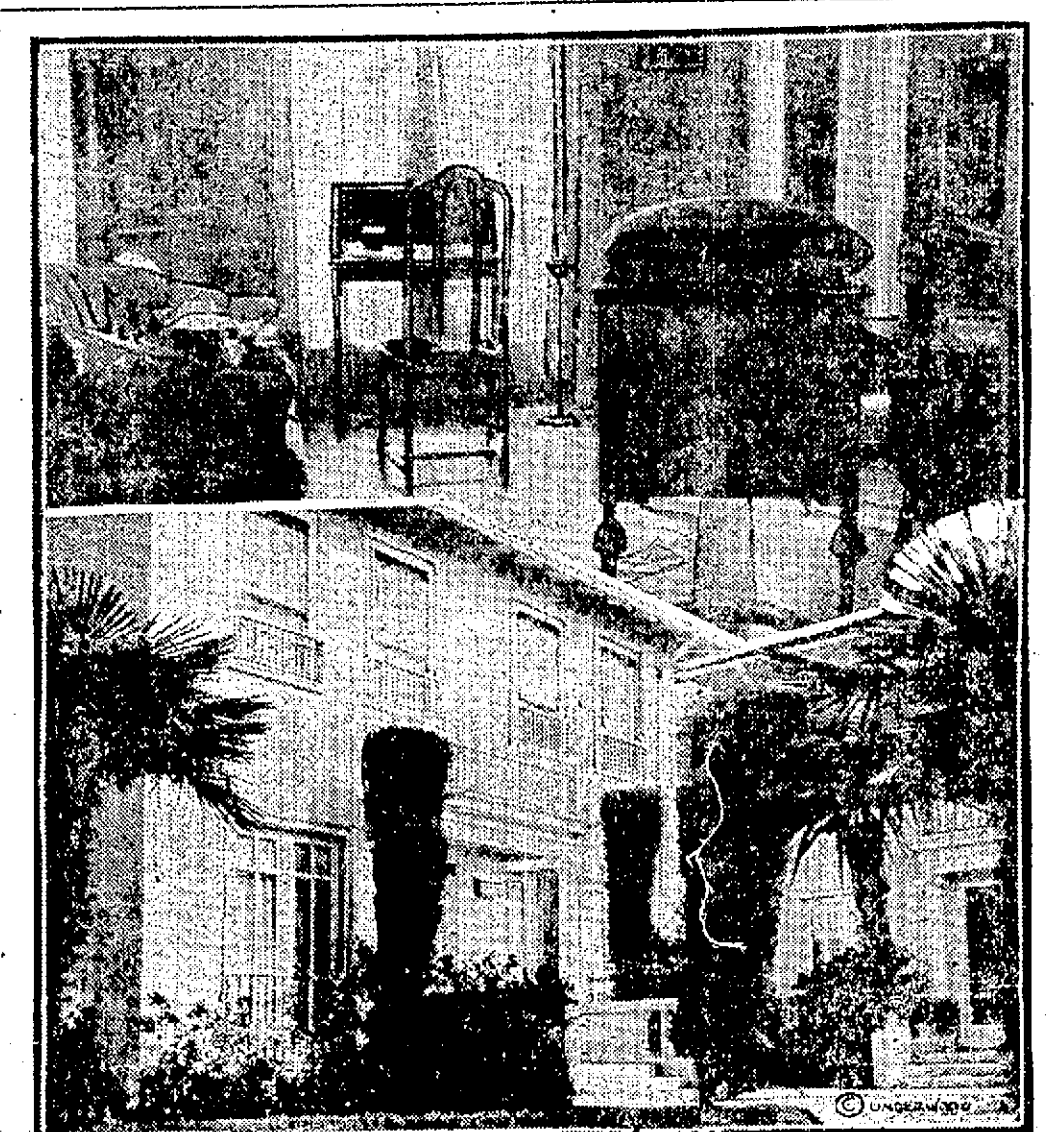

There is a good demand for second hand skates in this city now. There is a good opportunity to turn old pair into cash to help pay for your new ones.

Mr. Fredendall, 115 Garfield avenue, had a pair for sale. He ran an ad in the Gazette classified columns and received several answers. Needless to say the skates were sold. Here is the ad:

City Manager Plan WHAT IT MEANS TO A CITY

The city manager plan is built upon three pillars—freedom, authority, and centralized responsibility. It treats the city as a business rather than a political entity. In a way that is more liberal than the old form of government, it gives the city manager more power than a mayor. This board employs the manager, who takes hold and runs the city much like the hired superintendent runs a railroad or an industrial plant.

To the city manager the council looks for results. So that it may have means to select a man who can produce the results, the council is given authority to fix his salary. It cannot contract with him for a fixed term of employment; for it hires him for an indefinite term, which means as long as he is satisfactory, and it may remove him at will. Under these conditions, the city manager can hardly fail to realize to whom he is amenable.

Must Make Good.

Everything that relates to the selection of the manager and his retention in office is predicated upon his fitness for the job and his ability to make good. That the manager may have a fair chance, he also is given great authority and practical control over the city. In the choice of men to fill him or of all other subordinates, he has the utmost freedom. Such elements as nationality, place of residence, politics and religion, any of which are likely to turn up the wheels under usual methods, are banished from the managerial plan.

"The city manager shall be elected purely on merit," says the statute which governs his choice. "In electing the city manager, the council shall give due regard to training, experience, executive and administrative ability and efficiency and general qualification and fitness for performing the duties of the office, and no person shall be eligible to the office of city manager who is not by training, experience, ability and efficiency well qualified and generally fit to perform the duties of such office." What secret—if any—did William Desmond Taylor hold as he considered with him the outstanding prominent men and women of the movie world in his palatial home in Los Angeles that eventually brought an assassin's bullet? The answer is that he was a director in directing movie productions spoke highly of him. And yet some one harboring jealousy, hate or a spirit of cold revenge, stole into the room above and shot him in the back as he sat at a desk. The latest belief of officials is that a prominent movie actress was behind the act. That she is going one hind the act. That she is going one hind the act. That she is going one hind the act.

Labor's Attitude in Support of City Management

From the Wheeling (W. Va.) Register Sept. 19, 1920.

"In a four hour session The Ohio Valley Trades and Labor Assembly went on record yesterday at the semi-monthly meeting endorsing the commission-manager form of government, as it has been operative in this city for the past several years. Action as taken by the assembly was prompted by a communication received from the municipal officials of Lorain, Ohio, asking labor's opinion."

Nov. 12, 1920.—Organized labor, being responsive to the present form of government in a large measure, is very well pleased with the progress and method of application of the manager plan. During the course of the assembly, a resolution was adopted endorsing the commission-manager form of government, as it has been operative in this city for the past several years. Action as taken by the assembly was prompted by a communication received from the municipal officials of Lorain, Ohio, asking labor's opinion."

E. A. Nunan, editor of the Labor Review, Dayton, published by and for organized labor, said:

"Dayton has operated under the city manager form of government for the past eight years, and in that period labor has had a square deal. I will go further and say I do not believe there is a city in the United States in which the interest of the wage-earners have been more seriously and sympathetically considered."

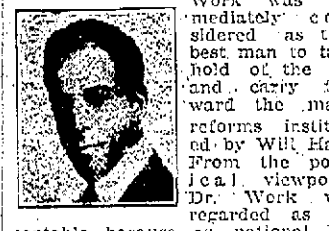

Orin Kress, Secy. Bldg. Trades Council, says, "Organized labor favors the city manager plan, and will fight to keep it in Dayton."

DR. HUBERT WORK EXPECTED TO BE HAYS' SUCCESSOR

ASSISTANT WILL TAKE UP POSTOFFICE JOB. REPORT.

Washington.—As the time draws near for Postmaster General Hays to leave the cabinet, the word from administration sources is that Dr. Hubert Work, assistant postmaster general, will be appointed in his place. This disposition of rumors which for the past week have been current, that Charles D. Hilles, former private secretary to President Taft and national Republican committeeman from New York State, might be induced to succeed Hays.

From the viewpoint of knowledge of the post office department, Dr. Work was considered as the best man to take hold of the job and carry it on. He has been many years in the post office, and has been in the post office since 1901. He has been in the post office since 1901. He has been in the post office since 1901.

Countable because as national Republican committeeman from Colorado he had had an experience in politics and that's important in handling members of Congress who besiege the postmaster general's office all the time.

But aside from this a movement is under way to place Mr. Hilles in the post office. It is reported that the New York state Republican organization is working in close accord with the party chiefs here.

Melton and Harding.

It is known that the discussion of whether Mr. Hilles would take the postmaster generalship if offered turned entirely upon his business connections. His friends say that his decision is today the same as it was a year ago when he visited President-elect Harding, namely that he is unable for some time to come to disassociate himself from his business connections.

Why Grow Old Before Your Time?

It isn't years alone that make one old. Many folks are younger at 70 than others are at 50. A lame, bent back, stiff, aching joints, rheumatic pains, bad eyesight, and bladder irregularities are often signs of kidney weakness and not advancing years. Don't let weak kidneys age you. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have made life more comfortable for thousands of elderly folks. Ask your neighbor.

Here's a Janesville Case. Mrs. Minnie Elser 339 Chatham St. says: "My kidneys acted irregularly and I suffered and was getting tired and I had been going down all over my back, and through my kidneys. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills, so I sent to Smith's Pharmacy and got a box. After using Doan's my kidneys were regulated and my back hasn't pained since."

Beloit's Poor Relief Crisis Well Settled

Better cooperation in the administration of poor relief work between Nelson Benson, county poormaster, for the southern section of Rock county and the Beloit United Charities has resulted from the lengthy squabble at the last county board session.

The Beloit supervisors, according to Poormaster Benson, have not yet adopted definite plans of supervising the expenditures of the county money, as was directed by resolution by the board. However, each supervisor is devoting more attention to relief cases.

The county commissioner and the paid charity workers in Beloit have rechecked their lists, so that no person is getting relief from both the county and city.

"We are in full accord and they have helped me greatly," reported Commissioner Benson on Wednesday. "They have an excellent system of records and have facilities to keep accurate check on people."

There are now about 200 Beloit families receiving aid, it was stated by the Beloit commissioner.

Three motor cars drove up to the residence in Enniskillen of James Copar, member of the Ulster parliament and attempted to gain admission. Copar opened fire on the men, who hastily retired.

Raid in South Donegal.

A series of raids also was made in South Donegal. Major Miles of Ballyshannon, William Hampton, Douglas of Kington were carried off by the raiders.

It develops that the raiders captured a large load of the "red" class of rifles near Clones, shooting and killing one of the constables. Sixty lorry loads of the class "red" specials were sent to Tyrone and Kermannagh from Belfast Wednesday.

THE STEEL BOX OPENED

Stores, top, have languages of their own. But these are developed not by isolation, but by contact. No merchant can remain in business long without automatically establishing an individual manner of expressing store character.

The invisible as well as the physical greeting extended to those who enter its portals, is a true index to the ideals and measure of integrity of a store.

We trust the language of this store fully expresses the sincerity behind it.

Woodrow Wilson's Secret Records of the Paris Peace Conference

When Mr. Wilson decided not to write the story himself he appointed Ray Stannard Baker to write it from the private documents collected at Paris in the famous Steel Box. These papers include the secret minutes of the Big Four and the Council of Ten—never before published and hitherto seen only by the heads of governments and a few confidential advisers.

THE GAZETTE'S PLATFORM

Auto tourist camp large enough and attractive enough to care for the thousands who will visit Wisconsin during the summer of 1922.

Devote every energy to finish the high school building as it may be used before the end of 1922. With the completion, the problem of a community center will be solved.

Janesville needs and should have ample hotel facilities to care for the public. The city will build a hotel when the high school is completed and the auditorium is available for the largest conventions.

Plan the paving of Janesville streets as soon as there can be the necessary readjustments in taxation so as not to place a heavy burden on the people.

Give the city management in municipal affairs. Establish the city managerial form of government and economical and efficient.

Give the city a park. There is now available $10,000 for this purpose and it should not be used for any other. Finish the city and zone plan.

Memorial Building for World War soldiers, the living and the dead—to be also an historical building.

CITY MANAGEMENT IN JANESVILLE.

One step after another in the conditions of all city governments has brought acutely home to the people of every municipality the need for a form of management that will save the taxpayers money and at the same time secure good administration.

Petitions are being circulated in Janesville calling on the council to hold an election on the question of adopting the city manager plan.

That petition calls for city manager and a city council of seven members. These members of the council are to be elected by the people. Such a council will have all the legislative power as explained in another article in this issue of the Gazette.

50 cities adopted the city manager plan last year—almost one a week. None once having adopted it, has gone back. Dayton, O., one of the early cities to go under the city manager, held a referendum last fall and sustained the manager form by a conclusive vote.

The present charter law of the state for cities presents nothing new for the solution of municipal problems. It is the old way, only more so. No matter whether the administration is good or bad, it will always be handicapped by the charter law and its limitations in centering responsibility.

City management in Janesville will legislate no man out of office. The mayor and others will serve out the terms for which they were elected. There is nothing of the commission form in the plan. The council is the legislative body and is elected by the people under the system but if there is to be a new door knob on the police station it is not necessary to call a meeting of the council. "Government by complaint" ceases under the city management plan.

In every city with scarcely an exception, labor has been behind the movement for city management. It means a square deal for labor and no political pull to get and hold a job.

City management in Janesville will mean that sort of government that is effectual as well as efficient.

Now we may begin on some practical domestic disarmament by eliminating the hip pockets.

HAS MADE A WORLD WONDER AT RESULTS.

Sneers have turned to cheers at the remembrance of the accomplishments of the arms parley at Washington. More has been done than was ever dreamed possible even by those who were making the program. After the first few days the enemy organizations of the conference said that the meeting was to break up in a row. But France and Japan early in the sessions did all the bluffing evidently to see what would happen. Competition in navy building is to cease. That was the greatest menace of peace. The submarine and poison gas will be restricted. Shanties will be restored to its owners. There is an open door treaty with China and a tariff-treaty that will wipe out the tariff or internal tax, which has been so restrictive for foreign trade. There are other treaties too, bearing on the questions which have been themes of international discussion for ten years or more and others still which grew out of the war. One who opposes these treaties in the senate will certainly lay himself open to the charge that he is playing politics, has a bad case of sour grapes or is sincerely against peace.

The United States got nothing out of the Versailles treaty except trouble. It has accomplished a measure of results in the Washington conference so great that it will ever be a criterion for future meetings of nations. At Versailles the red wounds of war were still gaping. At Washington the item of revenge played a most inconspicuous part. It was a meeting of peace and has ended in peace and unity. To the Americans led by Secretary Hughes and supported by President Harding, the glory of the occasion is great enough for all.

Roosevelt had the right idea in collecting money: "Speak softly but use the big stick."

Strange anomalies in politics! McCumber in North Dakota and La Follette in Wisconsin are to have support of the nonpartisan league while in the senate they represent almost constantly opposite views.

Will raising salaries entitle the council to get into the agricultural bloc.

How times change! Once the presence of a cigarette stump at the scene of crime denoted that the party was a man. No longer.

The Torch Bearers of Service

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington.—Seventeen years ago, a Chicago lawyer, Paul Harris, conceived the idea of bringing together the business and professional men of a community in a way which would eliminate any question of rivalry in business or profession and that would permit these men to get at the very foundation of all matters of importance to the community. The idea was to help society as a whole, with a view to making the members of the proposed club better members of society by giving them a wider vision of opportunities to serve society, and to make them representatives of their own profession or business to the end that they might carry the message and example of service to the members of their professions and men in their lines of business who were not members of the club.

On Feb. 23, 1905, Mr. Harris and three friends formed the Chicago Rotary club with this foundation:

1. That each member should pledge himself to the service of society in general, his community, his business or profession and his home.
2. That each member should pledge himself to the service of business or each profession admitted to the club.
3. That each member should be addressed always by his first name and a nickname.
4. That any member failing to attend four successive meetings, saving only in case of illness or absence from the city, should automatically forfeit his membership.

These are described as the big principles of Rotary, and the clubs have spread to 40 countries. There are now 10,534 clubs throughout the world, with memberships aggregating 90,000.

More than three years elapsed before the second Rotary club was formed. In November, 1903, San Francisco, after a study of the Chicago plan, followed the example set by Mr. Harris and his friends. Three months later Oakland, California, followed suit and in June of the same year Seattle and Los Angeles organized clubs. New York City followed in August and Boston in December, 1903. Then at short intervals clubs were organized in Tacoma, Washington; Minneapolis, St. Paul, St. Louis, New Orleans, Kansas City, Lincoln, Neb.; Portland, Ore.; Detroit, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh. The idea was spreading like wildfire. It reached outside of the United States and has taken in Canada, Cuba, Uruguay, Panama, England, Scotland, Ireland, India, China, Japan, the Philippine Islands, and other countries and colonies.

The first convention of Rotary Clubs was held in Chicago in 1907 with the idea of forming a national organization. Out of this meeting grew the National Association of Rotary Clubs. The second convention was held in Portland, Ore., the following year and the third, in 1913, in Duluth, Minn. It was at the Duluth convention that applications for membership were received from Winnipeg, Canada, and London. This led to changing the name of the organization to The International Association of Rotary Clubs.

In the foreign extension of the Rotary idea one principle has been adhered to rigidly. This is that clubs shall have as members natives of the country in which it is formed. The Rotary club of Tokyo has a purely Japanese membership, and the Rotary Club of London is made up entirely of Englishmen.

Although the organization of clubs has spread so far and so fast, it is emphasized by the officials of the international organization that the foundation of Rotary is the individual club. They say that no club can be a member of international Rotary very long without finding this out. It is a very large percentage of those boys did go to high school. In routine course the matter was reported to international headquarters. There the matter was taken up immediately, with the result that last year in this country alone 25,000 boys and girls who intended to quit school at the end of their grammar school course for various reasons, were persuaded to continue their education.

Membership in a Rotary club is no honorary affair. Most meetings are weekly luncheons. Four consecutive absences for other than illness or absence from the city forces any member out automatically. This has proven effective in keeping Rotary out of the class of organizations with non-active memberships.

The name Rotary was taken originally from the fact that the original group of four men in Chicago were to hold meetings in each other's office in rotation. Since the name has been adopted to the succession of officers of the club, as the officers must rotate, with the exception of the office of secretary-treasurer. It is rare indeed that any other exception is made to this rule.

The principles of the organization are carried into action in many ways. Rotary is depended upon to get behind every kind of a movement for the betterment of the community. There are some jobs that the clubs do when no other agencies exist for their proper performance. But it is one of the fundamental rules of the organization to claim no credit for anything—instead to thank society for the opportunity of making itself useful.

Here is what Paul Harris, the originator of the idea, now International President Emeritus and still an active Rotarian, has to say:

"Rotary has dedicated itself to the advance of an ideal, the ideal of service. If the world once becomes imbued with the spirit of service there will be no more occasion for war; the brotherhood of man will be here."

"The accomplishments of Rotary to date have been impressive indeed. Its spontaneous spread from one country to another has been without precedent. There is a reason for such remarkable success: it lies in the fact that Rotary has placed its dependence upon the most dependable attribute of man—friendliness; doubts and suspicions disappear when friendship enters."

ETERNITY

There shall be glory for us all at last—
The brave, the timid and the weak and strong,
The hearts that hoped, yet floundered in the wrong.

When the harsh judgment of the world is passed
And cold, grim cycles cease to stand agast;
There shall be music in the humble song,
And good in him, the poorest of the throng,
And some perfection in the faintest cast.

Who's Who Today

RAYMOND POINCARÉ.

When Raymond Poincaré in January, 1920, stepped down from the president's chair at the conclusion of his seven-year term, he said: "I do not think I have ever been so inactive. In my opinion the constitution has in no sense foreseen that an ex-president should be condemned to obscurity."

With such a heritage of having it is not surprising that in public life his attitude toward Germany has always been consistently bitter and uncompromising. Poincaré thinks and talks only of France. Humanity and world peace are abstract phrases to him.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

Feb. 8, 1882.—The annual meeting of the state jewelers' association is being held in this city, about 40 being in attendance. For the first time in the history of Janesville, a Milwaukee morning paper reached the city at nine o'clock on the morning of publication, one having done this yesterday and today. The roads around the city are good.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Feb. 8, 1892.—C. D. Kainess, who is at the head of the highway department, is now erecting a road, was in the city Saturday to make arrangements for the power plant. At first leased power was to be used, but it was decided to have a new power plant to be built in most probability, on Academy street, on the site offered by the St. Paul Railway.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Feb. 8, 1902.—A great deal of unfavorable comment against Gov. La Follette is being caused in the city by the announcement that E. E. Heimstreet of this city, secretary of the state board of pharmacy for 20 years and father of the organization, has been dropped from the board by the governor, who gives no reason for the action, other than that Heimstreet's term is out.

TEN YEARS AGO

Feb. 8, 1912.—An interesting program is being worked out for the annual convention of state librarians, which will be held in this city Feb. 21-23. It is expected America will play a big part in Chinese matters from now on, as is indicated in notes from Janesville from both countries. China is still in the throes of revolution.

Personal Health Service

Noted Physician and Author

ENLARGED TONSILS.

In the Journal of Experimental Medicine last June, Dr. Murphy, Withyby, Craig, Huxley and Sumner report the results of X-ray treatment of the enlarged and diseased tonsils of 46 individuals. Some of the results had also adenoid enlargement. In all but four cases the X-ray treatments were followed by marked shrinking of the tonsils and adenoid masses, with the gradual shrinking of many weeks, the tonsillar openings or crypts were drained of their accumulations of debris or septic or foul material. As the shrinkage progressed the previously enlarged tonsils assumed a normal appearance. More important than that, however, was the effect of the treatment on the bacteria harbored in the crypts or openings of the tonsils and adenoids. It was found by Dr. Murphy, Withyby, Craig, Huxley et al., that strains of cocci and bacilli, which means germs which have the wicked capacity of destroying blood cells and undermining the host's health—such as are commonly present in the crypts of infected tonsils and adenoids—were completely destroyed by the X-ray treatment.

Some other investigators have reported less favorable results. From X-ray treatment of the tonsils in lieu of surgical removal, which is expensive than surgical removal; takes many weeks of treatment as compared with three or four days of cure necessary when tonsils are removed; the ultimate effect is better. In the most favorable results are gained, the patient still has his tonsils which are still as susceptible to infection as ever. I don't know whether or not you should choose X-ray treatment or surgical excision if by your own tonsils were concerned; but I think it should solve the X-ray which if a child's tonsils were contracted, although children will contract, discharging children with contracted tonsils.

Q. How does the area and population of Holland compare with that of the United States? W. D. H.

A. Continental Holland has an area of about 12,000 miles, which is about the size of the entire United States. The population of Holland is little more than that of New York city. Adding Holland's island possessions, the area is increased by the size of Texas, California, Arizona, Nevada, and Colorado, and the population approaches one-half that of the United States.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

George's mother goes to work at the home of Platter, a rich man, when his father loses all his property—a livery business, a garage, a horse training and as a part of the job acts as groom to Sylvia Platter when she rides. Sylvia is thrown from her horse and thinking her unconscious, George kisses her, calling out that he loves her. She does him from the back and George, thinking her brother, who goes to horse-ship him, but in a fair fight. He seeks an education, goes to Princeton, meets Bailey, a tutor, gets a place on the football team and aids his college to win from Harvard. He makes a name for himself. He has determined that Sylvia Platter shall marry him and meets her several times, each time seemingly widening the breach between them. But he continues in the determination. Betty Allison is very kind to George, and at her home meets her friend Sylvia, which is embarrassing.

"It's revolting," George said. "Wandel glanced over his paper. "What a great man? Nothing of the sort. Blodgett has his points. "As usual, you don't mean what you say," George snapped. "But I do, my friend," George. "Blodgett isn't like the people he plays with." "Isn't that a virtue?" Wandel asked. "Perhaps it's why these people like him." "But do they really?" "You're purposely blind if you don't see it," Wandel answered. "Why the deuce don't you?" George feared he had let slip too much. With others he would have to guard his interest closer, and he would delay the final break he had quite decided upon with Blodgett. "Just the same," he muttered, ill at ease, preparing to leave. "I'd like Lambert's opinion." "You don't fancy this has happened," Wandel said, "without Lambert's knowing all about it." George left without answering. At least he knew. It was simpler, consequently, to discipline himself. His manner disclosed nothing when he made the necessary visit to Blodgett. The round face glowed with happiness. "You're a corky old Brummel," George said. "I've just seen it in the paper with the rest of the world. When it comes to a trifle, Blodgett's contented a trifle. "She says not for a long time yet, but we'll see. Trust Josiah to hurry things all he can." "Congratulations, anyway," George said. "You know you're entitled to them." But he couldn't offer his hand. With that he had an instinct to tear the happiness from the other's face.

Today's Short Story

BEWARE OF MEN WITH BLUSHING NECKS

There's a reason for everything, and the reason some men have pinkish necks that speedily deepen to a deep red is as follows, to wit: They are doddering fools. Doddering fools, that is, men who are so much in love with themselves, these miscreant compliments cause a rush of blood to their heads, and this unnatural surging in the neck, many times, day for years, enlarges their veins until their under skin can become saturated with blood in an instant. Hence the pinkness and quick blushing of their necks. Avoid them as you would avoid a mosquito. They are about that annoying—and that worthy of civilization.

Any Hendricks married one. She did not regret it with bitter disappointment the first year because she argued herself into believing that the other men she could have married might have turned out even worse. Perhaps she was lucky. Arch told her she was lucky. Arch was the husband.

She suspected that he was phlegmatic. He had so much to tell her that the cigar girl in his office building said. This cigar girl would admire a necktie he was wearing. "You never told me this greenish black tie was especially becoming," she would reproach him. And Miss Jones thought he had the nicest hands of any man she knew. "There's a girl," said Arch, "that is as popular as if she was a high flyer in sociology. You ought to see her. The fellows hang around to get a smile from her. But she always likes to see me. I'm her favorite customer."

Arch got an offer of a job in Toronto. He had to go to a branch manager. Amy begged him not to take it. They had just bought their home. Upon that cottage she had bestowed most of the love that should have been reserved for her husband. She opposed any move with unusual persistence.

But the next day Arch said he had accepted. "I talked the whole thing over with Miss Jones," he explained. "She said I would not feel not so go, much as she will miss me. There's an A. No. 1 girl for you. All pop and a yard wide. So I'm going, and when I get settled I will send for you. Don't fail. It's too hard because it won't be long."

After several brief weekly letters loaded with I's and M's, Arch missed a week and then conscientiously day morning. "There's no question. Any didn't answer. He wrote again and again. She didn't answer. A month later Arch returned on a business trip.

After several brief weekly letters loaded with I's and M's, Arch missed a week and then conscientiously day morning. "There's no question. Any didn't answer. He wrote again and again. She didn't answer. A month later Arch returned on a business trip.

It was shocked to find that Amy had gone to Toronto and as a clear sign of her going out of money," she explained, "and from what you said about Miss Jones I thought this would be the most refined way to earn a living for one not trained."

"I'm loomed a lot," Arch, especially about men. I wouldn't live with you again if you were the only man in the world. My attorney will look you up in a day or so. I want a separation and all it will cost you will be the four or five payments you made on the house. Now excuse me, please. Here comes one of my favorite customers."

Arch's neck at the moment had the pallor of roast veal.

They commit no failures, because they try no experiments. They break no resolutions because considering

"Hill," said they, "is pavel with good intentions!"

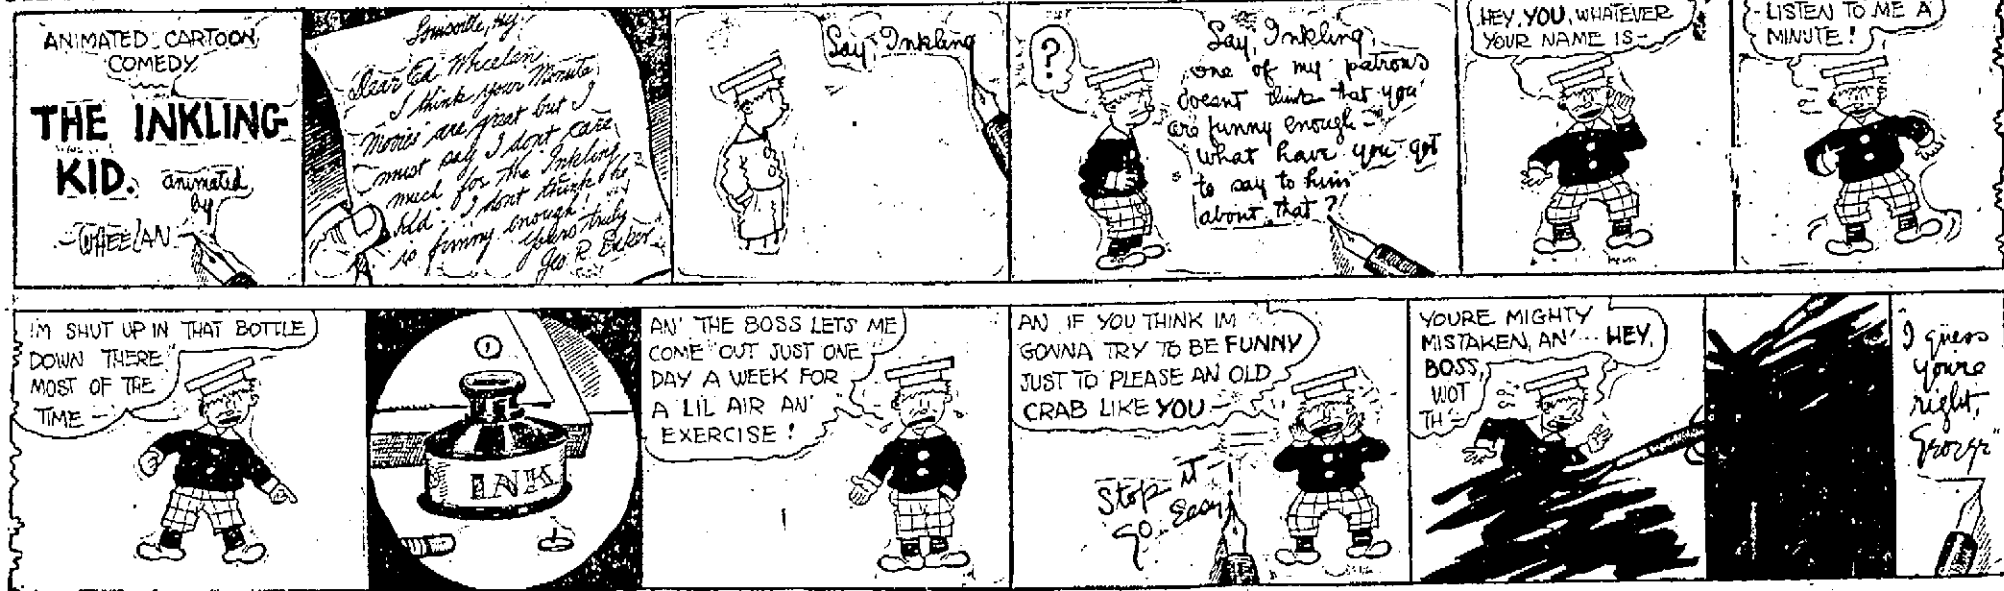

This slightly remark I have heard every single January since I cut my first tooth. I expect to hear it every January until I lose my last one. I will admit as resolution just for I'm a regular Jack Dempsey. Nor have I heard it only in January. I have also heard it in March, April, May, June, July, August, September, October, November, December and on the twenty-fourth day of February. For the knockers are always with us.

Always. ALWAYS. If you try to do a good deed, they're right on hand to point out your selfish motive. If you make a big effort, they're there to announce your failure. You can never do anything to please them. If you're happy and show it, they say you're "kushingly insincere." If you restrain yourself, they complain you have a heart of stone. If you're frank, they say you're rude or vulgar. If you're reserved, they say you're stupid or conceited.

Well, perhaps I do bust my resolutions. Perhaps I do have hell with good intentions. But I'm here to say to that gang of knockers, that I'd rather have hell with good intentions than never do road work anywhere. So there!

"Tinker Bob" Stories

by Carlyle H. Holcomb

AN EGG FOR THE KING

If you have never seen a hole in the sand like the one Tinker Bob saw on this occasion at the edge of the jungle land, it will be hard for you to imagine what it looked like. But it was a big hole, not a very deep one. In it were some 14 eggs, a dirty white in color.

"My, what eggs!" exclaimed Tinker Bob as he looked closely at the eggs. "Whose eggs are these?" he asked.

"These are the eggs of Mrs. Ostrich," said the proud fellow who had been carrying the King.

They were rarely big eggs. One of them contained as much as 20 chicken eggs. "Well, where is Mrs. Ostrich?" asked Tinker.

He had no sooner said it than he saw coming Mrs. Ostrich toward them at full speed. "Don't you care harm that nest?" she exclaimed.

"Now don't worry, Mrs. Ostrich," said the fellow who was showing the nest to Tinker Bob. "I'm just showing this nest to the King of the Forest."

"Well, I wouldn't have anything happen to that nest for all the world. You know that last year some of the natives came along and stole all of my eggs and I don't want that to happen again this year."

"Well, why don't you stay with the nest so you can watch it?" asked Tinker.

"Oh, that's no way to do with eggs like mine. You see all I have to do is lay the eggs and the son of a good enough to hatch them. Of course I stay with them at night, but never in the daytime. It is a little cooler at night and I see to it that they do not get chilled."

"Well, that's a funny way to take care of a nest. If the birds of the forest did that way they would never have any little children."

"But you don't understand, O King of the Forest. You must remember that I am a big bird and easy to see in a desert land like this. If I should stay here with the nest all the time, that he ventured to pick one up. But as he did so, Tinker Bob gave him a peck on the head that sent his nose into the sand. "I don't allow anyone to touch these eggs. If I did they would not hatch, so please keep your hands off." You can be sure that Tinker Bob kept his hands off the eggs even though he wanted one for his breakfast.

"Oh, King of the Forest, if you really want one of my eggs I will give it to you," said Tinker Bob. Mrs. Ostrich rolled one out of the nest and gave it to Tinker Bob. But Tinker Bob none because he laughed.

"My, what eggs!" exclaimed Tinker Bob.

BEAUTY CHATS

ANSWERED LETTERS

REYM—Continue to sleep with your windows open even if it makes your nose cold. Build up the system by taking more resistance against cold and one of the best things for this is fresh air during the sleeping hours. Cod liver oil is often taken during the coldest months of the year by people who suffer from cold as you do. If you cannot take it, olive oil will build you up, though it is not heating to the system like cod liver oil.

HETTY—Agar agar is taken with the food, as it is tasteless. An easy way is to sprinkle it over the cereal with one's breakfast. Circles around the eyes usually come from internal disturbances. Consult the doctor if they do not disappear.

MRS. E. M. C.—The pilocarpine tonic will help your condition even though you are 75 years of age. There is no limit on cultivating the hair. This old hair that is falling out will probably continue to do so, as it is likely dead, but a whole new growth will be coming during the same time.

If you persist in the treatment. The reason why your hair is falling out is because the system is so weak that it cannot keep the scalp in vigorous health. Massage the head every day and use the tonic three times a week. If the hair is too dry massage hot crude oil into the scalp the night before the regular shampoo.

MISS H. Mc M.—If your hair is splitting since you have used the heated hair, try curling it in another way without heat. The soft kid curlers may answer your purpose.

A. B. M.—The occasional grey hair in the head of the young is not in the hair, but in the scalp. It will turn grey all over. Frequently these hairs appear and are only stray hairs that have died and will drop out of themselves.

MR. F. J.—To overcome the tendency to chilblains there should be special effort made to promote a healthy circulation of the feet. This can be done by massaging the feet and ankles each night or by taking exercises which will do the same thing.

There is a remedy *intending to quicken the circulation through quick changes in temperature. This is brought about by keeping the feet in a basin of hot water, which is made as hot as the feet can stand, and from this plunging the feet into extremely cold water. Two or three of such baths will often cure the chilblains.

This same idea was used by our forefathers when they advised plunging the feet in snow. Camphorated vasoline or absorbent cotton wet with camphor and bound around the swollen and red places on the feet will relieve the itching sensation.

ANGLON—The cure of benzoin is the same as what is commonly called "benzoin" and used as a mild astringent and bleach. It takes only a few drops and used in the same way as washing the face. As this has a tendency to dry out the secretions, only use it when the face is inclined to be very oily.

By the time a man reaches the age when he really knows something he has also reached the age of discretion, and doesn't brag about it.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

DIETARY HINT
Breakfast: Bananas, Syrup, Cereal, Pancakes, Coffee.
Luncheon: Toasted Cheese Sandwiches, Baked Apples, Cookies, Cocoa, Dinner, Grapefruit.
Fresh Ham, Mashed Potatoes, Apple Sauce, Lettuce and Onion Salad, Rice Pudding.

Lemon Rice Pudding—Boil one-half cup of rice in one quart of milk until very soft, add to it while hot the yolks of two eggs, one cup of sugar, the grated rind of one lemon, and a pinch of salt. If too thick add some cold milk; it should be thicker than boiled custard. Turn into a pudding dish, beat the whites of the eggs very stiff with four tablespoons powdered sugar and juice of lemon, pour over the top and brown. To be eaten cold.

SUGGESTIONS
It is said that spots on silk can be cleaned with gasoline and no mark will be left if the dampened spots are covered with talcum powder and brushed when perfectly dry. One might make the experiment on a piece of cloth, for it is always best to understand cleaning methods before risking the art on fine material. One thing is quite certain: Fuller's earth if thickly sprinkled over the grass marks on delicate silk will clean the blemishes and leave no marks. It should be allowed to remain on the material for several hours.

A good way to clean a net or lace waist is to put it in a heavy pillow case and sprinkle it quite lavishly with flour and cornmeal. Take the bag into the yard and shake it vigorously, but not enough to injure the lace. It can be left in the bag for several days. Shake out the waist and shake free from dirt and flour mixture. In most cases the waist will not only be perfectly clean, but the lace will be light and fluffy looking.

Furs can be cleaned in the same manner if they are of light color.

A small brush broom from the 10-cent store is a handy thing to hang by the kitchen range. Gas burners may be brushed with its crumbs brushed from the toaster, etc.

If your sandals and rubbers look shabby but are perfectly good for further wear, paint them over carefully with a coat of stove pipe enamel and you will be surprised at the result.

History spends half its time in repeating itself and the other half in getting itself revised.

Listen, World!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

"Long about the middle of January, just as I've nicely finished all my New Year's resolutions, and have begun blissfully to bust 'em, the knockers arrive. They sneer at my works, with contempt."

"Hill," said they, "is pavel with good intentions!"

This slightly remark I have heard every single January since I cut my first tooth. I expect to hear it every January until I lose my last one. I will admit as resolution just for I'm a regular Jack Dempsey. Nor have I heard it only in January. I have also heard it in March, April, May, June, July, August, September, October, November, December and on the twenty-fourth day of February. For the knockers are always with us.

Always. ALWAYS. If you try to do a good deed, they're right on hand to point out your selfish motive. If you make a big effort, they're there to announce your failure. You can never do anything to please them. If you're happy and show it, they say you're "kushingly insincere." If you restrain yourself, they complain you have a heart of stone. If you're frank, they say you're rude or vulgar. If you're reserved, they say you're stupid or conceited.

Well, perhaps I do bust my resolutions. Perhaps I do have hell with good intentions. But I'm here to say to that gang of knockers, that I'd rather have hell with good intentions than never do road work anywhere. So there!

They can't do nothing, anyhow, at no time, that suits that breed. They're the weevil in the wafer every time. They carp and carp and C.A.T. But they never do anything else.

I'D RATHER HAVE HELL WITH GOOD INTENTIONS THAN NEVER DO ROAD WORK ANYWHERE.

themselves perfect already, they make none. They never blunder because they never attempt to construct. They just moon along finding fault with everyone else, sneering, doubting, scoffing, insinuating, calling names.

Well, perhaps I do bust my resolutions. Perhaps I do have hell with good intentions. But I'm here to say to that gang of knockers, that I'd rather have hell with good intentions than never do road work anywhere. So there!

ADOPT NEW RULES TO HOLD HOLSTEIN FOR CALF CONTEST SALE HERE MAY 1ST

Contestants to Draw Animals. Competition Open to All Youth.

Rules have been established by the Rock county Holstein association for the calf club started by the breeders of the black and whites, with adequate prizes for the youths. Under the plans adopted the association expects to make the contest more of a test of the boys and girls to develop and the stock than merely to go out and attempt to buy a winner as has been the experience in many counties other than Rock.

The rules were established during the meeting of the board of directors at the office of J. A. Craig on Tuesday. The committee will obtain a number of pure blooded calves of superior type and quality, and will bring them to Janesville. The boys and girls entering the contest will draw lots for the calves, and the competition is limited to animals obtained from the association in the drawing.

Will Draw Calves
Arthur Collentine and R. S. Mulce, collectors of agricultural representatives will set a fair market price on each calf. This price is to be discounted 25 per cent to the boys and girls. No inferior animals will be accepted by the association committee and they hope to obtain an even type and quality on the calves obtained as to the contest a real testing of feeding ability of the contestant. After the pooling and drawing the club contestants can either pay cash with no discount or the association will accept a personal note from the children without endorsement. Arrangements are to be made with a bank for obtaining cash on the paper to make the contest a real testing of feeding ability of the contestant. Insurance payments which are to be refunded to the contestants.

Henry Wieland Chairman
The contest is restricted by junior calves born after February 1, 1922. Prizes have been offered by the Holstein association and the winners will be picked at fair time. It is hoped to have displays of the Holstein calves at both the Janesville and Rock county fairs. Delivery day will be set by the association committee, headed by Henry Wieland Jr., Newark, chairman.

"We want the children to be more active. The Holstein men request full cooperation of all farmers and all interests in putting over the joint enterprise obtaining the much needed building for Rock county.

The next meeting of the directors will be March 7 at the office of President J. A. Craig.

Seventy-five cows produced over 40 pounds of butterfat for the month and 19 of these produced over 50 pounds. The following farmers had cows producing over 40 lbs. fat. Arthur Stowell 12; Edward Kuehne 10;

Fred Waldman Buys Son of Champion Sire

Fred Waldman, son of John Waldman, Blackhawk stock farm, has purchased a son of Great Orion Sensation, out of Gano Lady, for his Durand-Jersey herd, a part of which are to be offered at the sale in Janesville on Thursday. The young animal made a good buy in this sire, a full yearling. He is a son of the twice world's champion and the dam a daughter of the world's champion cow in 1918.

The young animal is long of body, smooth and up in the air. He was bought from the Pinchurst farm. The other Durand sire is Sensation Critic, one of the best cows and animals in Rock county for his age. Fred Waldman knows good stock and his swing shows his judging ability. The sows from the Waldman herd are going to be a good buy for the farmers seeking breeding stock on the raising pork market. The market reached $10 this week and the majority of farmers are desiring it will not go below $9 for some time.

The Waldmans also bought Hubert Maple Crest King, a Holstein sire, whose dam was a registered Holstein by Doris Kurydyke, having a record of 28.82 at six years. The sire of the new Waldman animal is Maple Crest King Defeat, having 22 A. R. O. daughters. The new sire, in addition to a good pedigree, has good build and heart development of great beauty. He is an animal of merit and should do much in further building up the Holsteins on the Blackhawk farm.

High School Runs Into Defeat at Whitewater, 14 to 13

BLUE RALLY TOO LATE TO HALT VICTORS' DRIVE

Playing on a floor the size of which apparently measured them, Janesville high school suffered its second defeat of the season in a loss to Whitewater Tuesday night, 14 to 13. Little basketball was played by the victors until the last minute. Whitewater failed to connect consistently but sufficiently to keep the lead.

Not until Whitewater was ahead, 12 to 8, did Janesville come to life. Three new men were shot in for the Blues—Neck, Clark and Austin for Dougherty, Seeman and Cranshaw—and they finished the battle in a riot of action.

Almost—Not Quite.

A basket by Austin and a free throw by Dickerson shot the score to 12-11 with a minute; 52 seconds to go. A second later Hahn tossed an easy field goal.

Janesville fought madly for the ball and Austin scored. It was the final of the counting. With super-strength, the Blues carried the ball into enemy territory. As the timekeeper cocked his pistol, Clark shot from the free throw line. The ball struck the rim, paused—and rolled off. The game was over.

Showed Little Scrap.

The Blues did not show the fight that characterized Saturday's win over Racine, 19-11. They were awkward. If Whitewater had a basket in the first half, the score would easily have run high. The game was good, experience for Janesville, preparing them for the Whitewater meet scheduled for the 15th. The Blues' home floor is the minimum size allowed; Whitewater's the maximum.

As the game was about to start, the Janesville boys were in a state of electrical trouble. The big brass band of Whitewater furnished entertainment.

Score and Standings:

Janesville (13)	Whitewater (14)
Cranshaw, 10-0-0	Tratt, 10-0-0

Badgers Decline Coast Invitation to "Start Things"

Madison—The University of Wisconsin Tuesday night declined the invitation of the University of California to participate in an inter-sectional track meet at Berkeley April 15.

The athletic council in refusing to accept the offer of the western school gave as the reason for its action the desire to curb "exploitation of athletics" which is resulting in a "plethora of inter-sectional contests" which has turned college facilities against a predominance of athletics in school life.

Wisconsin and Minnesota have always maintained a conservative attitude on the question of post-season and inter-sectional contests. A member of the council said, "we wish to find how other members of the conference feel with regard to it and bring the matter to a head."

CLOSE RACE FOR CITY LEAGUE LEAD WEDNESDAY'S GAMES

Yahn's Kelly Springfield vs. Lake-Rites 1-2
Crown Dairy company vs. Daily Gazette 3-4
Lewis Union Suits vs. Merrick Dairy 6-7
Shurtlett Ice Creams vs. Janesville Pure Milk 4-5

With the return of Jim Newman to the lineup after confinement to his home because of illness, the Lewis Union Suits knock balls with the league leading Merrick Dairy boys in the city bowling league Wednesday night. Although in fifth place, the Lewis team holds the distinction of being the only team to have won a game. The climbing Gazette team closes with the Crown Dairy company with promises of one of the usual tough games between these quints.

Gradually pulling up the Yahn Kelly Springfield are hooked to meet the Lake-Rites. The Shurtlett Ice Creams, close on the heels of the Merricks, are bound to meet the Janesville Pure Milk.

WOMAN ROLLS HIGHER THAN MEN TUESDAY

Hitting the maples for high score of the night of 192, Mrs. McLaughlin led her five in a smashing attack upon the East Side boys Tuesday night but lost out by 27 pins. Mrs. Novaski had high score for the women with 475 while Ormsbee topped men men with 533.

EDGERTON HIGH SURPRISES MILTON

Edgerton—Edgerton High handed Milton High a surprise package, when they defeated the Union basketball five Tuesday night, 25 to 14. The score at the end of the first half, was 12 to 11, with Union in the lead.

Considerable interest attached to this game, because the local quintet was directed by Milton's short time ago. Throughout Tuesday's game, Edgerton played excellent offensive basketball, but was not strong on defense. Mabson, Bardeen were the high scorers for the locals, while Astin and Chasov were the individual stars for Union. Edgerton second team humbled Milton seconds, 17 to 15, in a preliminary.

Abolish 3-Heat Harness Plan

Cleveland—Harness racing on the Grand circuit tracks this year will be conducted under vastly different conditions than 1921, despite the fact that the joint rules committee of the American and National trotting associations failed to make material changes in racing rules. Probably the most important changes is discarding the three heat plan of racing by the Grand circuit and also the Lake Erie and Ohio Short Ship circuits.

The three heat plan, primarily arranged to prevent laying up of heats and similar unfair practices, developed unsatisfactorily through being used as the means of carrying on what it was intended to eliminate. Frequently a race was won before the final heat was started and then the race winner would make things easy in the final heat, giving the entire contest a bad aspect. The plan of not having the winner of the first two heats contest the third heat did not prove satisfactory to race fans in general, many not being able to understand it.

The Grand circuit stewards went on record against the three heat plan and all members pledged themselves to pass up the system in favor of the two in three heat plan and also adopted a recommendation to the rules committee of the parent racing associations that the three heat plan be abolished.

ELKS APPROVE PLANS TO CONTINUE BOOTS

Formal approval of the Janesville Athletic club to carry on its plans to continue boxing here was given by the Elks club, whose joint decision the Elks are held, Tuesday night. A meeting of the Elks board will be held Thursday night.

A Letter of Thanks

Because of my inability to see you all personally, I want to take this method of thanking you and in behalf of the Booster Committee for the wonderful and generous spirit in which you supported Janesville's bid for the 1923 Wisconsin bowling tournament.

Both Janesville and Green Bay conducted a clean campaign and we lost a good fight. Green Bay's three consecutive years of effort for 1923 were too much for us to overcome; they won and we lost.

Janesville's surprising showing this year gives us the inside track for 1924. Green Bay pledged us her support and her three votes; consequently with the new friends we made this year, we should make our mark in 1924 if Janesville's present spirit does not die and I know it will not.

We asked for the meeting day next year as "Janesville Day" and it was given us, so with one more year of work and pulling together we will go to Green Bay with a strong delegation and fight for 1924.

Let's keep our spirit.

S. F. RICHARDS,
Chairman, Booster Committee.

Along with this letter it was announced by the Janesville Bowling association that the Booster committee will be retained as constituted in the 1923 drive.
